Appropriate Answer.

olly Sappy—Er—really, Miss Kandor, I don't know why you should at me as you do. Why do you say "don't like my face?"
Miss Kandor—Because.
olly Sappy—"Because?" There's reason in that.
Miss Kandor—Well, there isn't any our face either.—Catholic Standard Times.

A Puzzle.

here's no use talking," sighed the big man who had received a note telling him that it could never be. "ere's no use talking, you can't tell thing about women."
"ou shouldn't tell anything about n," replied the gray bearded philosopher, fagging his head sagely.—Age.

Financially Speaking.

om—What would you do if you sud-ly came into possession of $50,000?
ack—I'd take the first boat for Eu- and buy a title.
om—Buy a title!
ack—Sure. Then I'd come back and try a girl with more money than e.—Chicago News.

Nothing New.

ow do you do?" said Miss Gaddie, had just opened a millinery estab-lishment. "Did you know I was inter- in business now?"
Why, yes," replied Miss Knox, "I posed you were, as usual, but I t know whosa"—Catholic Stand- and Times.

Resignation.

o you think a strike will make more expensive?" asked one house-der.
I don't know whether a strike will t," answered the other, "but some- g will."—Washington Star.

Reason For Hate.

indig—I hate that fellow Wisely.
mson—Because why?
Windig—Because I got into an argu- nt with him one time and he forced to admit that I was wrong.—De- it Tribune.

The Woes of the Rich.

But isn't your father likely to come at any moment?"
Oh, no; poor papa is hiding in the cellar. I made him think that you re a process server."—Cleveland in Dealer.

Taking His Word For It.

"Come and let me introduce you to Lady Diana. (Soto voce) Prettiest girl in London, old chap."—Bystander.

Japan's Pancake Women.

One of the familiar sights on the streets of a Japanese town is the pan- cake woman, who, with her little brat-ler of coals and her tiny frying pan, is usually found on a corner not far from a school. She has a bowl full of deli- cious batter, a ladle and a cake turner, and there is apt to be a hungry crowd around her little stand as soon as school is out, for not many of the chil- dren are able to resist the smell of the crisp pancakes, at least if they have any money. For a small coin worth only a fraction of one of our pennies a child may fry and turn his own cakes, and happy is the one who has a number of coins in his little kimono sleeve and can fry and eat to his heart's content.

Official Correspondence.

A fourth class postmaster—and he doesn't live in Billville—sent the fol- lowing to headquarters in Washing- ton:

"This will make three times that I've told you I'm laid up with a bad leg, havin' shot myself in the left leg—the one that was wounded in the war—while I wuz tryin' to kill a squirrel for my breakfast, and I will not be be- sides, I don't git much holiday no- how!"—Atlanta Constitution.

To the Voters of DeSoto County:

SINCE MAKING MY ANNOUNCEMENT as a candidate for Represent- ative several weeks ago events have transpired that very much effect the welfare of the people of DeSoto County, and differences have arisen between opponents of division. Certain persons have decided that it is to their interest to have a representative in the next legislature that will do their will and see that no act is passed that will interfere with their present immunity from tax on pasture and other lands in this county. With this end in view they have placed in the field a candidate who is favorable to their interests and they are trying to use the county division issue as a club to force DeSoto County to elect their candidate.

It is essential in order that justice may be done to the poor as well as the rich, that these pasture owners pay a tax as well as the small land owners. Judge J. B. Cochran and myself have been contending that these persons are trying to control DeSoto County politics for their own selfish interest, but realizing that we were dividing the votes of a majority of the tax payers of this county who are opposed to a few men dictating the affairs of the 12,000 people in it, I have decided that it is best for me in the interest of DeSoto County and for the welfare of the many, to unite with Judge Cochran in an effort to defeat them and withdraw from the race.

I believe Judge Cochran to be a good man and a true friend of the people and I have no hesitancy in saying that he is better qualified for representative than any other man in the race.

Of course, in withdrawing I forfeit all obligations which my supporters are under to me and shall in no way attempt to dictate who any friend of mine shall support, but I desire to have it plainly understood that I believe that the best interest of DeSoto county will be served by the election of Judge Cochran and I expect to vote for him and do all that I can to further his course.

I ask my friends, before they make a decision as to whom they will support, to conscientiously consider the welfare of DeSoto county and ask themselves whether it would be better for them to elect Judge Cochran or listen to the per- sumptuous dictates of a few who are working only for self interest and against the interest of the common people of DeSoto county.

Respectfully,

H. C. SPARKMAN,
